

Meet the River Valley Players

River Valley Players Inc. (RVP) is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to the performing arts. We began as a fund-raising project for Henry's Bicentennial Celebration. It sparked an interest in community theater which took RVP from the dream of a few to the lively group that it is today.

Since 1977, RVP has mounted a major musical or drama each spring and fall and a youth theater each summer. We have had the privilege of working with talent from several counties including, but not limited to: Marshall, Putnam, Bureau, Stark, Peoria, LaSalle, Woodford, McLean, Livingston, and Macon, and Grundy.

Throughout our history, we have sponsored adult and children's theatre workshops, as well as numerous community projects in the area. These projects have helped to raise money for workshops, community celebrations, historical walks, area schools, and St. John's XXIII. RVP actively loans costumes, equipment, and technical expertise (lighting, sound, music direction, choreography) to surrounding grade schools, high schools, community theatres, and county historical societies. The Henry schools have especially benefited from our support throughout the years.

RVP also provides an annual educational scholarship for students seeking careers in the performing arts or who have served the group in some capacity.

The organization is managed by a volunteer Board of Directors. Most shows happen through a combination of hard work by the board and talented people in the community. Although we have many faithful and frequent patrons, the organization cannot provide the excellence in the arts with ticket sales alone. We rely on donors and sponsors to be able to purchase the equipment and supplies needed to keep the ever-changing demands of theater alive on our stage.

Introducing River Valley Players Precious Gems

River Valley Players is launching the unique opportunity to support the performing arts through the giving of generous donors. RVP strives for excellence and purposes to continue moving forward in the realm of community theatre. It is the goal of RVP to provide superb theatrical entertainment and education for the members of the community. Your tax deductible donations will help offset the many capital expenses required for the continued improvement of your experience. To show gratitude for your support, your name or business will be featured in our programs. River Valley Players thanks you for your time and continued support and for allowing us to continue to entertain and educate for years to come. There are multiple levels of giving. Here is the breakdown:
